When in 1949
Fr. Leonard
Feeney, SJ
accused the Archbishop of

Boston,
Richard J.
Cushing, of heresy for holding that Jews and Protestants
could be saved, he backed up his charge by producing passages from the writings of fathers of the church such as St. Augustine, of eminent theologians such as St. Thomas Aquinas, and from the decrees of popes and councils, to prove that it was a dogma of faith that there is no salvation outside the Catholic Church. He did seem to have the weight of evidence on his side, and it was not easy to see how the modern idea that non-Catholics can be saved could be reconciled with the church's traditional doctrine that excluded them from salvation. Many in the Catholic Church have felt that while Feeney must surely have been wrong, the questions he raised were never satisfactorily answered. Is it really a dogma of Catholic faith that there is no salvation outside the church? Can the optimism of Vatican II about the universal possibility of salvation be defended as an example of homogeneous development of doctrine? Or would it be more honest to say that the Catholic Church has recognized that its previous teaching was mistaken? The author is convinced that the only way to answer such questions is by a thorough study of the history of Christian thought about the salvation of those "outside the church." Rev. Sullivan makes this historical study a lively reading experience while drawing conclusions that will impact ecumenical thinking for years to come. George Van Grieken FSC Weigel tells the dramatic story of Pope John Paul II's battle with communism, creating a landmark portrait of a man who left an indelible mark on the Catholic Church and changed the course of world history. Manual of Christian Doctrine 2e Answer K Scripture-Based Answers to Some GOSPEL WHYS Why does it feel like most of the world today considers irrelevant the gospel we cherish and so faithfully proclaim in our churches? Why do our Christian responses fail to satisfy the heart quests of our neighbors? Does the shallowness of our neatly packaged answers alienate us from them and from each other? More Questions than Answers offers the hope of reconciliation through exploring how we can develop listening relationships. Walking together in what becomes a spiritual accompaniment, we learn to attune ourselves to one another and to the Spirit within us. Then we dare to reach across the chasm that separates us and discover an authentic faith emerges.

Dorrance Publishing Catholic Answers to Protestant Questions is a must read for those seeking to grow in their Catholic identity. Here are just a few of the questions that are covered in this book: Where did the Bible come from? Was Christ or Constantine the founder of the Catholic Church? Was Peter the first Pope? What do Catholics mean by being "born again" and why do they baptize children? Where do Catholics find the seven sacraments in the Bible? Why do Catholics believe in the Eucharist as the Body and Blood of Christ? Why do we need a priest to forgive serious sins? What are indulgences and why are they needed? Where can we find a priest being referred to as "Father" in the Bible? Do Catholics worship saints? What is the communion of saints? Is Mary the Mother of God? Did Jesus have brothers and sisters? Was Mary assumed into heaven? Is there a purgatory? Is there a rapture? Is salvation assured? Are we justified by faith alone, or by faith and works? Do Catholics practice idol worship?  An effective method for learning God's Word is to use a systematic strategy that involves seven consecutive steps. A good way to remember the order in which these seven steps should be taken is by referring to the acrostic PRIME AT. When you PRIME AT God's Word, you are preparing to better understand and use God's Word. The seven steps outlined in the acrostic are: Pray; Read, Interpret, Meditate, Explore, Apply, and Teach. You should: Pray that the Holy Spirit will guide your learning of God's Word, Read different versions of the Bible, Interpret -scripture in your own words, Meditate on the meaning and purpose of the scripture, Expl ore-commentaries, study guides, and other biblical references, Apply God's Word to your life, Teach others what you have learned. An effective way to teach God's Word is to engage people in active learning. This is best done by designing a pedagogical method that addresses the following questions: What do you want people to be able to do when they have finished the lesson? What will they need to know in order to do what should be done? How can you facilitate their learning? How do you assess learning? Establishing a set of learning outcomes is required to answer the first question. To answer the second question, one must identify the body of knowledge that must be acquired to accomplish the learning outcomes. This requires identifying a set of learning objectives that must be achieved. The best way to facilitate learning is to provide guided learning materials that address both learning outcomes and learning objectives and ask probing questions. And finally, some type of quiz or test needs to be developed in order to properly assess learning.

With an introduction by P.D. James The Catholic Handbook: Or, Every Protestant His Own Controversialist Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Scripture-Based Answers to Some GOSPEL WHYS By: Kelly G. Jones In this day and age, the world is very loud and distracting. We are constantly bombarded with anti-morals, anti-Christian, and anti-religion messages through all types of media. The Scriptures cover about 6000 years of man's history. The messages found within them were consistent throughout this history. Scripture-Based Answers to Some GOSPEL WHYS uses the scriptures to show how organized religion, faith, repentance, and much more is relevant in our lives. If this book can guide even one person to have more peace, direction, and foundation in their lives, it has served its purpose. Jesus the Christ Christian Liberty Press Here at last is a reissue of Kaspers major work with a brilliant new introduction surveying recent developments in Christology. Kasper assesses the Christological enterprise in the Church from the earliest down to the most recent times which can be recommended without hesitation to teacher and serious student. The book also provides a solid theological basis for preaching. This may also be described as a work of Christian serenity, but one which is not indifferent to current problems. It is the fruit of the deep peace which all men can gain from contemplation of Jesus the Christ. As Karl Rahner has said - this book is modern in the very best sense of the word. Synthesising biblical, philosophical and traditional material, the book remains essential reading for specialists and is used widely for courses on Christology - the very basis of Christian theology itself. Salvation Outside the Church? Wipf and Stock Publishers Scripture-Based Answers to Some GOSPEL WHYS Dorrance Publishing St Mark's Gospel and the Christian Faith ReadHowYouWant.com From the author The book covers discussions on prayer based on the theological views of some of the most important theologians and biblical scholars in the early church. The efficacy of Prayer has been the subject of several scientific research projects, debates, and conflicts for many years. "What sort of evidence would prove the efficacy of prayer?" Several studies have been generated as researchers try to discover the legitimacy of the belief that prayer is effective. The overall aim of the project is to investigate and explore the effectiveness of prayer; Discover who or what inspires prayer and what is the necessity of faith when we pray. I believe the efficacy of prayer is a reasonable subject of study and one which is appropriate for a person of faith or someone considering a vocation in Christian ministry. The evidence that would prove the efficacy of prayer begins with believing or having faith in God. This means that we decide to accept the teachings of Scripture without regard to reason or logic. The second point I would like to make regarding faith is that faith is a gift: Therefore, if anyone is to call upon the name of Jesus Christ, faith must be given to them. Faith is imparted by the Holy Spirit to the spiritually made-alive sinner. Acts 3 verse 16 says all faith in Christ is faith that has come from and through Christ. Hebrews 12 verse 2 says Jesus is the author and perfecter (finisher) of faith. The believer's faith must be anchored in Jesus Christ. Philippians 1:29 says it's been "granted" unto us to believe in Jesus Christ. So, all faith in Christ originates in Christ Himself. He must grant this faith, and He grants it to those who have been chosen by God from before the foundation of the world. Second Peter 1:1 says faith must be given. (askligoniervm @ligonier.org.) God will give revelation whenever and to whomever He chooses. As Christians living according to the word of God, this is a path that we must all walk in order to discover Christ's plans for our lives. In fact, St. Paul, known as one of the greatest apostles of all times wrote: If by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead, not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may apprehend that for which also, I am apprehended of Christ Jesus. Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Phil. 3:7-14. We are changed, transformed daily by the word of God. There are several powerful two-word phrases found in the World as well as the word of God. Phrases such as: Healed all; gathered in;

cast out; raised up and pulled down. Each of these phrases are used in context with the power of God. However, there is one phrase used 43 times in Scripture that causes my spirit to leap for joy every time I read it and that phrase is: "but God". This small two-word phrase communicates a tremendous message to all who will hear it. It is God's response to Satan's challenge. It is the bottom line. It is the last word. It is all over, but the shouting. "But God," when viewed in relation to the challenges of life, is what up is to down; life is to death; in is to out. Always remember that had it not been for this fact, we would be like ships without sail when faced with the storms of life. "But God" stands diametrically opposed to the negative roar of the world; for example, whenever the world says no - "God" says

yes. The world says cannot – “but God, ” says you can. The world says you will not, but God says you will. The world says stop – “but God says go. The world says do not – “but God says do. The world says defeat -- but God says victory! But God” climbs the highest mountain; traverses the darkest valley; and sings songs of victory in the midnight hour to comfort His children. “Our God is an awesome God. He is courageous, confident and conclusive and this is how we need to be also!” Secondly, we should strive to be increasingly like Jesus. This means taking off the old man’s attributes or the old way of thinking, and putting the new character designed by God Himself. It means that each day should find us more reformed than the previous day, redesigned in the nature of your maker. You should never give up or give in if you believe in the power of God. It doesn't matter how difficult the challenges may become if you put your trust in God you will survive. I encourage you to keep on trusting God and believing that you will overcome all obstacles. Persevere, don't quit, keep trusting with your consistent faith. To persevere is to stay for the entire game, do not rush off, but wait until the last seconds of the clock tick; until the “home team” has had its chance because by faith you will receive your victory. I want to encourage and motivate with these words. At this moment it may seem that the jury may still be out, but that does not change the reality that God will work things in your favor. Nothing will work against you because no weapon formed against you will prosper. Nothing can ever separate you from the love of God. Nothing happens unless God says so and, in your situation, while all the votes seem to be in, relax because God has not had His final say yet. In the bible there are many mysteries, various instances where our adversary the devil is confounded and confused. There are stories of his elaborate schemes going amiss because he failed to realize that God would always have the final say. He had worked so hard to get everything exactly right, yet just when he thinks he is victorious, he hears “But God!” Remember that God is faithful in all things, and He will be gracious to you. Please know that God will grant you strength and always show you mercy. God takes the time to do everything right and all those who wait for him will renew their strength. Christianity Today's 1997 Books of the Year! Ours is an age of profound cultural change, in which new categories and alliances are bound to arise. In theology, the liberal strategy has lost support, having degenerated into mere anthropology and succumbed to the political agendas of its proponents. And while the evangelical movement appears to be gaining ground, it is simultaneously suffering an acute identity crisis. Currently the postliberal (or "Yale school") movement has found a strong resonance in some mainline denominational circles. Its emphasis on the biblical text and Jesus Christ--through which all other reality needs to be construed--may turn out to be the most significant theological realignment in more than a century. Are we witnessing a paradigm shift? Can evangelicals and postliberals make common confession? Might they even combine forces to reinvigorate the church--its theology and its mission--for a new era? In this groundbreaking book, creative evangelical and postliberal thinkers explore exactly how they agree and disagree along a range of issues, from epistemology and theological method to doctrinal concerns. Evangelical contributors include such significant theologians as Alister McGrath and Gabriel Fackre. Postliberal contributors include George Lindbeck, a "founding father" of postliberalism, and George Hunsinger, the former student and major interpreter of the late Hans Frei, another "founder" of postliberalism. In The Nature of Confession we are presented with the beginnings of a robust discussion of real importance to both the academy and the church.

This outstanding book provides an in-depth historical study of the place of Jesus in the religious life, beliefs, and worship of Christians from the beginnings of the Christian movement down to the late second century. Lord Jesus Christ is a monumental work on earliest Christian devotion to Jesus, sure to replace Wilhelm Bousset's Kyrios Christos (1913) as the standard work on the subject. Larry Hurtado, widely respected for his previous contributions to the study of the New Testament and Christian origins, offers the best view to date of how the first Christians saw and revered Jesus as divine. In assembling this compelling picture, Hurtado draws on a wide body of ancient sources, from Scripture and the writings of such figures as Ignatius of Antioch and Justin to apocryphal texts such as the Gospel of Thomas and the Gospel of Truth. Hurtado considers such themes as early beliefs about Jesus' divine status and significance, but he also explores telling devotional practices of the time, including prayer and worship, the use of Jesus name in exorcism, baptism and healing, ritual invocation of Jesus as Lord, martyrdom, and lesser-known phenomena such as prayer postures and the curious scribal practice known today as the nomina sacra. The revealing portrait that emerges from Hurtado's comprehensive study yields definitive answers to questions like these: How important was this formative period to later Christian tradition? When did the divinization of Jesus first occur? Was early Christianity influenced by neighboring religions? How did the idea of Jesus divinity change old views of God? And why did the powerful dynamics of early beliefs and practices encourage people to make the costly move of becoming a Christian? Boasting an unprecedented breadth and depth of coverage — the book speaks authoritatively on everything from early Christian history to themes in biblical studies to New Testament Christology — Hurtado's Lord Jesus Christ is at once significant enough that a wide range of scholars will want to read it and accessible enough that general readers interested at all in Christian origins will also profit greatly from it.
